

Energy Tour

Become acquainted with the innovative educational programs and institutional partnerships throughout the greater metropolitan Omaha area. In the luxury of an air conditioned charter bus, participants will explore the new clean energy facilities that are being implemented as educational tools and integrated into programs of study. Space is limited, so register soon to save your spot on the Energy Tour.

Saturday July 30th from 3-6pm
Hixson-Lied Building G04

The Energy Tour will feature the following:
Creighton University's energy technology facilities,
a solar heating facility at Metropolitan Community College, an example of the Peter Kiewit Institute's innovative underground cooling system, and their Zero Net Energy Test House.
